March

March 1st

This Day, the First Day of March

1. Rome, near Saint Paul's on the Ostian Way, Saint Felix III, Pope, who was the great-great-grandfather of Saint Gregory the Great, Pope.
2. Angers, in Gallia Lugdunensis Lugdunum, Saint Albinus, Bishop, who strongly rebuked the arrogant conduct of the powerful and diligently promoted the Third Council of Orléans for the renewal of the Church.
3. Menevia in Wales, Saint David, Bishop, who, imitating the example and customs of the Eastern Fathers, founded a monastery from which many monks set out, who evangelized Wales, Ireland, Cornwall, and Armorica.
4. Le Mans in Neustria, Saint Siviard, Abbot of Anisole.
5. On the island of Werda in the Rhine, in Saxony, Saint Suitbert, Bishop, who was first a monk in Northumbria, became a companion of Saint Willibrord, was ordained bishop by Saint Wilfrid, preached the Gospel to the Batavians, Frisians, and other peoples of Germany, and peacefully passed away in the monastery which, already elderly, he had founded.

6. In Vasconia, Saint Leo, bishop and martyr.

7. In the monastery of Vena, on the steep heights of Mount Mercury in Calabria, Saint Leo of Lucca, Abbot of Mula, who, according to the traditions of the Eastern monks, shone in both eremitical and cenobitic life.

8. Celanova in Galicia, Spain, Saint Rudesind, formerly Bishop of Dumium, who worked for the promotion or restoration of monastic life in that region and, having laid aside the episcopal office, took the monastic habit in the monastery of Celanova, where he later served as abbot.

9. Taggia in Liguria, the commemoration of blessed Christopher of Milan, priest of the Order of Preachers, devoted to the worship of God and sacred doctrine.

10. Bassano in the Veneto, blessed Giovanna Maria Bonomo, abbess of the Order of Saint Benedict, who, endowed with mystical gifts, shared in the sufferings of the Lord's Passion in both body and soul.

11. In the city of Xilinxian, in Guangxi Province, China, Saint Agnes Cao Kuiying, martyr, who, though married to a violent man, after his death devoted herself, by order of the bishop, to teaching Christian doctrine; for this she was imprisoned, suffered most cruel torments, and, always trusting in God, passed on to the eternal banquet.

March 2nd

This Day, the Second Day of March

1. Neocaesarea in Pontus, Saint Troadius, a martyr in the persecution of Emperor Decius, whose contest Saint Gregory Thaumaturgus has borne witness to.
2. Lichfield in England, Saint Ceadda, bishop, who, in the troubled provinces of his time—of the Mercians, of Lindsey, and of the Middle Angles—presided over the office of bishop, which he strove to administer after the examples of the ancient Fathers, in great perfection of life.
3. Agyrion in Sicily, Saint Luke Casali of Nicosia, monk, filled with humility and virtues.
4. Prague in Bohemia, of Saint Agnes, abbess, who, daughter of King Ottokar, having rejected royal marriage, desiring instead to be espoused to Jesus Christ, embraced the Rule of Saint Clare in a monastery rebuilt by herself, where she wished to observe poverty with exactness.
5. Bruges in Flanders, blessed Charles the Good, martyr, who, a prince of Denmark and afterward Count of Flanders, became a guardian of justice and a defender of the poor, until he was slain by soldiers whom he sought to compel to peace against their will.
6. Seville in Spain, Saint Angela of the Cross Guerrero González, who, foundress of the Institute of the Sisters of the Cross, claimed no right more for herself than for the poor, whom she was accustomed to call her lords and truly to serve.

March 3rd

This Day, the Third Day of March

1. Caesarea in Palestine, Saints Marinus, soldier, and Asterius, senator, martyrs under the emperor Gallienus; the former, having been accused by an envious fellow soldier for being a Christian, before the judge professed his faith with the clearest voice, and received the crown of martyrdom by beheading; and Asterius, when he received the body of the martyr by spreading underneath it the garment he was wearing, is said to have received himself the honor which he paid to the martyr, by becoming himself also a martyr.
2. Calagurris in Tarraconensian Spain, Saints Emeterius and Chelidonius, who, when both were serving in military camps at León in Galicia, after the persecution broke out, were led as far as Calagurris for their confession of the name of Christ, and there were crowned with martyrdom.
3. Amasea in Pontus, Saints Cleonicus and Eutropius, martyrs in the persecution of the emperor Maximian, under the governor Asclepiodotus.
4. Brixia in Venetia, Saint Titian, bishop.
5. In Cornwall of Armorica, Saint Winwaloe, first abbot of Landevennec, who is said to have been a disciple of Saint Budoc on the island of Laurea, and to have made illustrious the monastic rule.

6. Benevento in Campania, Saint Artellaïs, virgin.
7. Nonantola in Emilia, Saint Anselm, founder and first abbot of the monastery, who for fifty years advanced monastic discipline both by his precepts and by the exercise of virtues.
8. Kaufungen in Hesse, Saint Cunegund, who, together with her husband Saint Henry the Emperor, bestowed many benefits upon the Church; after his death, she retired to the cloister as a nun, where she made Christ her heir and died. Her body was honorably laid to rest at Bamberg, near the bones of Saint Henry.
9. In Frisia, blessed Frederick, priest, first parish priest in the town of Hallum, later abbot of the monastery of Our Lady at Mariengarde, of the Premonstratensian Order.
10. Palermo in Sicily, blessed Peter Geremia, priest of the Order of Preachers, who, confirmed in the ministry of the Word of God by Saint Vincent Ferrer, devoted himself wholly to the salvation of souls.
11. Vercelli in the Subalpine region, blessed Jacobinus de' Canepacci, religious of the Order of Carmelites, distinguished for his devotion to prayer and penance.
12. Gondar in Ethiopia, blessed Liberatus Weiss, Samuel Marzorati, and Michael Pio Fasoli da Zerbo, priests of the Order of Friars Minor and martyrs, who were stoned to death for the Catholic faith.
13. Daron in Brittany of France, blessed Peter René Rogue, priest of the Congregation of the Mission and martyr, who, in the time of the French upheaval, refused the wicked oath imposed on the clergy, remained in the city to minister secretly to the faithful, and, condemned to death, passed to the mercy of the Lord in the very church where he celebrated the sacred mysteries.

14. Brescia in Lombardy, Saint Teresa Eustochio (Ignatia) Verzeri, virgin, foundress of the Institute of the Daughters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

15. Also at Bergamo in Lombardy of Italy, blessed Innocent of Berzo (John) Scalvinoni, priest of the Order of Friars Minor Capuchin, who shone with outstanding charity in preaching the Word of God and in hearing confessions.

16. Philadelphia in Pennsylvania of the United States of North America, Saint Katharine Drexel, virgin, who founded the Congregation of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament and generously and kindly spent the wealth of her inheritance for the education and support of the Native Americans and African Americans.

March 4th

This Day, the Fourth Day of March

Saint Casimir, the son of the king of Poland, who, though a prince, stood out for zeal of faith, chastity and penance, kindness to the poor, and devout veneration toward the Eucharist and the Blessed Virgin Mary; and, consumed by tuberculosis while still young, peacefully fell asleep in the town of Grodno near Vilna in Lithuania.

2. Nicomedia in Bithynia, the holy martyrs Photius, Archelaus, Quirinus, and seventeen others.

3. Trier in Rhenish Austrasia, Saint Basinus, bishop, who, born from the leaders of the kingdom of Austrasia, was first a monk, then became abbot of Saint Maximin in Trier, and finally, raised to the episcopal seat of the city, gave consent to the foundation of Saint Irmina's monastery at Echternach.
4. Comacchio in Flaminia, Saint Appian, monk, who, having been sent from the monastery of Pavia, led a hermit's life in this city.
5. In the monastery of Cava in Campania, Saint Peter, who, having followed monastic life from youth, was elected bishop of Policastro, but, disdaining the noise of worldly life, returned to the monastery, where, having been made abbot, he wonderfully restored discipline.
6. Chambéry in Savoy, blessed Humbert, count of Savoy the Third, who, though forced to leave the cloister to handle public affairs, all the more cherished the monastic life, to which he soon truly returned.
7. London in England, the blessed Martyrs Christopher Bales, priest, Alexander Blake, and Nicholas Horner, who, amid the raging persecution of Queen Elizabeth the First, together received the crown of glory.
8. In the convent of Saint Savior at Vico-Comitatus in Normandy, France, of blessed Placida (Eulalia) Viel, virgin, who stood out in the Congregation of the Sisters of Christian Schools of Mercy for her zeal and humility.
9. Vicenza in Italy, of blessed John Anthony Farina, bishop, who worked in many ways for pastoral matters and founded the Institute of the Teaching Sisters of Saint Dorothy, Daughters of the Sacred Hearts, to provide for the education of poor girls and to care for all who were afflicted and marginalized.

10. In the town of Berezwecz near the city of Głębokie in Poland, of the blessed Martyrs Miecislaus Bohatkiewicz, Ladislaus Mackowiak, and Stanislaus Pyrtek, priests, who, in the turmoil of war, were cast into prison on account of Christ's faith and were shot.

12. Obazine near Limoges in Aquitaine, Saint Stephen, first abbot of the monastery of this place, who, seeking God, joined three monasteries founded by him to the Cistercian Order.

13. In the monastery of Jędrzejów in Poland, the passing of blessed Vincent Kadlubek, bishop of Kraków, who, having resigned his office, embraced the monastic life there.

14. In the city of Getafe near Madrid in Spain, blessed Faustino Míguez, religious of the Order of Clerics Regular of the Pious Schools, who, having been ordained priest, devoted himself entirely to the work of teaching, attaining a great reputation as a teacher and a man knowledgeable in the natural sciences, but diligent in pastoral activity, and founded the Congregation of the Daughters of the Divine Shepherdess.

March 9th

This Day, the Ninth Day of March

1. Saint Frances, a religious woman, who, as a young wife, lived in marriage for forty years, was a virtuous wife and mother, admired for her piety, humility, and patience. In times of calamity, she distributed her goods to the poor, served the sick, and, after the death of her husband, withdrew into the monastic life among the offerings that she had gathered in Rome under the Rule of Saint Benedict.

2. Sebaste in Armenia, the passion of the forty holy soldiers from Cappadocia, who, not for blood but for faith and obedience to the will of the Heavenly Father, suffered in the time of Emperor Licinius. After being bound and severely tortured, during the harsh winter, they were ordered to spend the night naked on the frozen lake, and they completed their martyrdom by breaking their limbs.

[Sebaste, in Armenia, under the governor Agricolaus, in the time of the emperor Licinius, the birthday of forty holy soldiers of Cappadocia. After being loaded with chains and confined in foul dungeons, after having their faces bruised with stones, and being condemned to spend the night naked, during the coldest part of winter, on a frozen lake, where their bodies were benumbed and laid open by the frost, they ended their martyrdom by having their limbs crushed. The noblest of them were Cyron and Candidus. Their glorious triumph has been celebrated by St. Basil and other Fathers in their writings. Their feast is kept on the tenth of this month.”

From the March 9, 1916 edition of the Roman Martyrology]

3. Barcelona in Spain, Saint Pacian, bishop, who, explaining the faith, professed himself to be a Christian by name and truly Catholic by nature.

4. In the district of Rapolla in Lucania, Saint Vitalis of Castronovo, monk.

5. In Eastern Moravia, Saint Bruno, bishop of Querfurt and martyr, who, while accompanying Emperor Otto III in Italy, was moved by the authority of Saint Romuald to adopt the monastic life. After receiving the name Boniface, he returned to Germany, where he was consecrated bishop by Pope John X. He was martyred during an apostolic expedition, killed by idolaters along with eighteen companions.

6. Bologna in Emilia, Saint Catherine, virgin of the Order of Saint Clare, who, renowned for her noble talents but more illustrious for her mystical virtues and humble devotion, led other sacred virgins.

7. Mondonio in the Subalpine region, Saint Dominic Savio, who, even from his childhood, was sweet and joyful in spirit. As a young man, he quickly completed the Christian journey of perfection.

8. In the village of Nei-Ko-Ri in Korea, the martyrs Saints Peter Ch' oe Hyong and John Baptist Chon Chang-un, who, as heads of families, administered baptism and published Christian books. For this, they were subjected to severe tortures, yet remained so steadfast in their faith that they inspired admiration from their persecutors.

March 10th

This Day, the Tenth Day of March

1. Apamea on the Meander in Phrygia, the commemoration of the holy martyrs Caius and Alexander, who, in the persecution of the emperors Marcus Antoninus and Lucius Verus were crowned with glorious martyrdom.

At Cîteaux in Burgundy, Saint Stephen Harding, abbot, who, coming with other monks from Molesme, presided over this famous monastery, instituted lay brothers, received Bernard with thirty companions, and founded twelve monasteries, which he joined together with the bond of the Charter of Charity, so that there might be no discord, but the monks might live in one charity, one rule, and similar customs.
8. At Naso near Messina in Sicily, Saint Conon, monk under the discipline of the Easterners, who, returning from pilgrimage to the holy places, when he found his parents dead, distributed all his family possessions to the needy and embraced the anchoritic life.
9. At Monticiano near Siena in Etruria, blessed Antony Patrizi, priest from the Order of Hermits of Saint Augustine, who was a true lover of his brothers and neighbor.

10. At Tours in France, blessed Joan Mary of Maille, who, her husband having been killed in war, reduced to poverty and cast out from her home by her own people, abandoned by all, lived enclosed in a small cell near a convent of Minors, begging for bread but wholly trusting in God.

11. At York in England, blessed Christopher Wharton, priest and martyr under Queen Elizabeth the First, who was handed over to the punishment of the gallows on account of the priesthood.

12. At Angers in France, blessed Renata Mary Feillatreau, martyr, who, though married, while the French turmoil was raging, was beheaded because she had preserved loyalty to the Catholic Church.

13. At Przemyśl in Poland, Saint Joseph Sebastian Pelczar, bishop, founder of the Congregation of the Servants of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and an outstanding master of the spiritual life.

March 29th

This Day, the Twenty-ninth Day of March

1. At Naples in Campania, the commemoration of Saint Eustasius, bishop.

2. Commemoration of Saint Mark, bishop of Arethusa in Syria, who in the time of the Arian controversy did not at all turn aside from the orthodox faith and, under the emperor Julian the Apostate, was grievously harassed; by Saint Gregory Nazianzen he is hailed as an outstanding man and most holy elder.

3. Commemoration of the holy martyrs Armogastes, Archinimus, and Saturninus, who in Africa, in the time of the Vandal persecution, under King Genseric the Arian, endured many and severe tortures and insults for the confession of the truth.

4. On Mount Carmel in Palestine, blessed Berthold, who, a soldier, having been admitted among the brothers living the religious life on that mountain, was soon elected prior, and entrusted the pious community to the Mother of God.

5. At Poitiers in Aquitaine, Saint William Tempier, bishop, who, prudent and steadfast, defended the Church entrusted to him against the nobles and corrected morals, himself offering an example of the most upright life.

6. At Wismar in Holstein of Germany, Saint Ludolph, bishop of Ratzeburg and martyr, who, for having defended the liberty of the Church, was cast by order of Duke Albert into a squalid prison, and was so exhausted in body that, as soon as he was freed from his chains, he departed from the world.

7. At Salisbury in England, the commemoration of blessed John Hambley, priest and martyr, who, under Queen Elizabeth the First, on an unknown day of this month, around the Pasch of the Lord, was conformed to the passion of Christ by the punishment of the gallows because of the priesthood.

2. At Thessalonica in Macedonia, Saint Dominus, martyr.
3. At Autun in France of Lyons, Saint Regulus, bishop.
4. Commemoration of many holy martyrs, who at Constantinople, in the time of the emperor Constantius, by order of Macedonius the Arian bishop, were driven into exile or tortured with unheard-of kinds of torments.
5. On Mount Sinai, Saint John, abbot, who composed the famous book The Ladder of Paradise for the instruction of monks, in which he laid out the path of spiritual progress like an ascent through thirty steps to God, whence he deserved to be called “Climacus.”
6. At Syracuse in Sicily, Saint Zosimus, bishop, who was first the humble keeper of the tomb of Saint Lucy, then abbot of the monastery of that place.
7. At Coventry in England, Saint Osburga, the first abbess of the monastery of that place.
8. Near Aquino in Latium, Saint Clinius, abbot of the monastery of Saint Peter of the Wood.

9. At Aguilar in the region of Castile of Spain, Saint Peter of Valladolid Regalado, priest of the Order of Minors, who, remarkable for humility and the rigor of penance, founded two cells where only twelve brothers lived as solitaries.
10. At Vercelli in the Subalpines, blessed Amadeus, ninth duke of Savoy, who, holding authority, zealously promoted peace and continually supported the causes of the poor, widows, and orphans.
11. In the village of Su-Ryong in Korea, the holy martyrs Anthony Daveluy, bishop, Peter Aumaitre, Martin Luc Huin, priests, Joseph Chang Chu-gi, Thomas Son Cha-son, and Luc Hwang Sok-tu, catechists, who were beheaded for the faith of Christ.
12. At Naples in Italy, blessed Louis of Casoria (Archangel Palmentieri), priest of the Order of Friars Minor, who, compelled by the ardor of charity toward the poor of Christ, established two Congregations: namely, the Brothers of Charity and the Franciscan Sisters of Saint Elizabeth.
13. At Turin also in Italy, Saint Leonard Murialdo, priest, who founded the pious Society of Saint Joseph, so that abandoned children might experience the Christian faith and charity.
14. In the village of San Julián in the territory of Guadalajara in Mexico, Saint Julio Álvarez, priest and martyr, who, during a violent religious persecution, bore witness to his fidelity to Christ the Lord and to His Church by the shedding of his blood.
15. At Vienna in Austria, blessed Maria Restituta (Helena Kafka), virgin of the Congregation of Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity and martyr, born in Moravia, who, being a nurse, during the raging war, was captured by the enemies of the faith and beheaded.

March 31st

This Day, the Thirty-first Day of March

1. In the place Argol in Persia, Saint Benjamin, deacon, who, because he did not cease to preach the word of God, under King Varanes the Fifth, having sharp reeds driven under his nails, completed his martyrdom.
2. At Rome, the commemoration of Saint Balbina, whose titular church, founded on the Aventine, offers her name for veneration.
3. At Cologne in Austrasia, Saint Agilulf, bishop, distinguished for holiness of life and preaching.
4. At Borgo San Donnino in the countryside of Parma, Saint Guido, abbot of the monastery of Pomposa, who, having received many disciples and rebuilt the buildings, took greatest care for prayer, contemplation, and divine worship, and wished to be intent on God alone in seclusion.
5. At Toulouse in France, blessed Joan, virgin of the Order of Carmelites.

6. At Udine in Venetia, blessed Bonaventure of Forlì, priest of the Order of the Servants of Mary, who, through various regions of Italy, stirred the people to penance by his preaching and, while he was giving Lenten sermons, died there as an octogenarian.

7. At Carlisle in England, the commemoration of blessed Christopher Robinson, priest and martyr, who was a witness of the martyrdom of Saint John Boste, and at length under Queen Elizabeth the First, likewise because of the priesthood alone, on an undisclosed day, was led to the gallows and himself received the palm of glory.

8. In the town of Ravensbrück in Germany, blessed Natalia Tulasiewicz, martyr, who, with her native Poland subjected by military force, was imprisoned in a detention camp by followers of a nefarious doctrine hostile to human dignity and the faith, and gave up her soul to the Lord through the punishment of death by asphyxiating steam.

“Scio opera tua ... quia modicum habes virtutem, et servasti verbum Meum, nec non negasti Nomen Meum”
(Apocalypsis 3.8)
